Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Shark Research: Present Status and Future Direction, Oceanic Biology Program, April 1975 20. Abstract (Continued) 1. A proposed Guide to the Sharks of the World to be produced by a multiplicity of authors in a loose leaf format in order to insure wide dissemination of accurate and up-to-date information about the identification and biology of sharks. 2. A proposed Systematic Catalogue of Sharks and Rays of the World intended as a companion to the guide listed above but containing more technical, information for specialists. 3. A proposed Shark Data Bank where potentially useful ecological data oi. sharks may be gathered and collated as contributed, perhaps much of it collected incidental to other marine research. 4. Concentrated ecological and behavioral studies on a variety of representative and preferably ubiquitous species of sharks such as the great white shark, tiger shark, bull shark, or oceanic whitetip. 5. Expansion of research using the most advanced ethological techniques for investigating social, rhythmic and feeding behavior, especially toward a quantification of the results. 6. Continuation of research: behavioral, physiological and anatomical; on shark sensory systems: acoustic, chemical, visual and electric; as well as on a number of other systems: central nervous system, orientation mechanisms and the osmoregulatory system. 7. The establishment and maintenance of an effective reporting system for shark incidents, perhaps within the framework of a re-established Shark Attack File with its attendant function of analysis and reporting. 8. Improved dissemination of information about sharks in relation to man including medical treatment for shark attack injuries and the reassessment of accurate and current information in training programs. 9. Discontinuance of the purchase of Shark Chaser by the Department of...
