A HOLLOW OF THE HILLS I How oft the swallow darted Above its deeps of blue, Where leaves close clung or parted To let the sunlight through! Where roses, honey-hearted, Hung full of living dew! II How oft, from out the heaven, Upon me blew the balm Of soft winds, summer-driven From continents of calm! With rustlings as of riven, Sea-sounding pine and palm! III Oft from its leafy cover I watched the red-bird slip; A HOLLOW OF THE HILLS And marked, like some rude lover, The bee, with robber lip, Bend down the snowy clover, Or make the wild-rose dip. IV Still darts the soaring swallow Above it; and the rose Still blooms within its hollow Where still the runnel flows; The brook, --that I shall follow No more, --that seaward goes. There still the white moon shineth At night through rifted trees; Upon...
