Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Third Annual Report of the Board of Directors of the Union League of Philadelphia: December 11th, 1865 The treason fell with arms in its myriad hands, red with the best blood of our kindred; it perished with our victorious bayonets at its throat; and the circumstances of its fall drew after them consequences of inestimable value, both to the victors, and, in the not distant future, to the short-sighted vanquished. It neither asked nor expected other terms than those which are meted by the conqueror to the conquered. It had been prepared so to deal with us, if chance had placed the victory within its grasp. This state of affairs continued for some time after Lees surrender, and would have continued until the present day, had not the rebels taken heart from the treasonable sympathy expressed by their allies in the North, and with this encouragement, endeavored by all the arts of political opposition to secure to themselves, through the doctrine of State Sovereignty, and the right of equal representation in the councils of the Nation, a power which they had forfeited by their vain appeal to arms. The first fruit which the rebels and their Northern friends hoped for from these manoeuvres, was a reorganization of their odious social system, and a practical restoration of the institution of slavery. Though the slaves had been freed by our armies from the dominion of their masters, these same masters now proposed to plunge the freedmen into a more degrading slavery to the law.
