At eighteen he fails to qualify for university even though he had a brilliant brain and was an A Ordinary level student. His parents pressurise him over his academic and professional education. Deborah Burgher is the daughter of Doctor Karl and Mrs. Katherine Hanns in Zimbabwe on a missionary expedition for four years. Karl is a medical specialist attached to a non-governmental organisation that is financing the operations of restoring eyes. Deborah meets Charles within three weeks of her arrival in Zimbabwe. Deborah is a communications software specialist attached to the state broadcaster for the period her parents are in the country. Charles rubs his African charm onto Deborah. He wows her with friendship taking her to places where she sees the other side of Africa. Young and energetic men in Zimbabwe have seen the fruits of tourism. They see white arrivals in the country as a meal ticket. In the long run, she starts to thaw to the hard working Charles whom she continues to run into. Occasionally Charles hurries...
